(Special to the "News.")
Bodin City, Wyo., Sept. 14.—Word has been received here of another outrage, committed probably by cattlemen who desire to retain the ranges in the vicinity of Dutch Creek for their herds. Several nights ago one of the sheep wagons owned by Mrs. Mary L. Moore, mother of Lincoln J. Morrison, the young sheepman who was wounded by unknown assassins on Dry Creek ten weeks ago, was blown up by dynamite. Sheriff Fenton and a posse have gone to the scene. It was not reported whether anyone was injured or not. Serious trouble between the sheep and cattlemen on Dutch Creek has been threatened for some time.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 14.—A dozen detectives are scouring the country today in search of three peddlers of tinware, a tall man and two companions, seen in the vicinity of the Letts hold-up the day before, but who disappeared immediately afterwards. The tall man tallies exactly with the description of the engineer Dunham gave of the man who poked a pistol under his nose. A 44-caliber Swiss revolver was picked up at the point where the engine was found with its fire out. There are hopes that the revolver may prove a clue to the gang.

The avowed object of their trip was to call on Rear Admiral McCalla, the commander of the navy yard. Well-informed officials, however, express the opinion that the visit may include an inspection of the place where it is not unlikely the Lena may be laid up for an indefinite time, in the event of its disarmament.

EIGHT HOUR LAW AT STATE PRISON.

Question as to Whether it Applies To Guards Employed There Being Investigated.

SCHETTLER WANTS OVERTIME.

Suit Instituted to Compel the State To Pay Him $108.75 for Extra Labor.

The question as to whether or not the eight-hour law is applicable to guards employed at the state prison is again being considered today by a jury in Judge Stewart's division of the district court. The case in which the point is raised is that of C. L. Schettler against the State of Utah and the state board of corrections, and was brought to recover $108.75, alleged to be due for overtime put in by plaintiff while employed as a guard at the state prison.

The complaint alleges that plaintiff was compelled against his protest to work overtime, amounting to 84½ days at the prison between March 21 and July 16, 1904, and that such time is worth $18.75. A claim for that amount was presented to the state board of corrections, but was denied.

Defendants in their answer claim that a rule was established at the prison requiring each guard to remain at the prison on each alternate night to be used in case of an emergency and that plaintiff knew of that rule and agreed to abide by it when he was employed as a guard.

This is the second trial of the case. On the first trial which was had during last term of court the jury could not agree on a verdict, and was discharged and hence a second trial was necessary. Plaintiff is represented by Attorney C. F. Loubourou and Judge W. H. King, while defendants are represented by Assistant Attorney General White. A jury was impaneled this morning and the taking of testimony will be commenced this afternoon.

GRAVE CHARGE.

Miner Arrested by Police After Hearing the Girl's Story.

Only the crying of her baby sister saved a fourteen year old girl from assault last night, according to the story told by her mother to Officer J. R. Furster this morning. The alleged attempted assault was made on West Temple street, near the Salt Palace, and from the facts furnished Officer Furster he arrested C. E. Dugger, a miner, this morning, on the charge of attempted assault.

It appears that the girl was alone with her mother at her home on West Temple street last evening, when Dugger came to call. The father was away at the time, looking up mining interests in which he is interested. Dugger is a friend of the girl's father and had just come in from prospects which he is working in Big Cottonwood canyon. On this account he found no difficulty in getting access to the house. During the night, he suggested that he and the girl go for a walk, and the mother agreed, provided that they would go no further than the postoffice corner. When they were leaving the house the baby sister of the young girl cried to go along with them, and the mother asked the girl as to what happened later. The girl said that she had been left when they had got to Second South, but insisted on going a block further on the plea that it was not late, and the evening was too pleasant to spend indoors. The walk continued until Eighth South was reached. Here Dugger is alleged to have seized the girl, and holding her hand over her mouth carried her into some willows along the roadside. At this juncture a dog came by, and commenced to bark. This frightened the baby, that had been left by the roadside, and it started to cry. Fearing that its cries would attract passers by the man freed the girl, and returned with her to her home. After he had done the girl made a complete confession of everything that had happened to her mother, and this morning the mother hunted up Officer Furster, who has the West Temple beat, and told her story to him, with the effect that the man was arrested as he was about to leave for Cottonwood.

NO WORD FROM CALIENTE.

As yet no news has been received from Deputy Sheriff Cowan, who went to Caliente on Monday night to identify the prisoner Sheriff Johnson arrested there upon the belief that he is Marko Ziegler, who is wanted for the murder of William Farrow at Murray several weeks ago. Sheriff Emery is of the opinion that the man is not Ziegler or he would have heard something from Cowan in regard to the matter before now.

It further alleges that he failed to keep his promise with her, and married another woman, and for the reasons set forth asks relief in the amount of damages above set forth.

DAMAGE SUITS TRANSFERRED.

Claims Against Mining Companies Reach the Munificent Sum Of $190,200.

ECHO OF CARBON COAL STRIKE.

James Brace Seeks to Recover $50,000 For the Death of His Son—Other Cases.

The munificent sum of $190,200 is the aggregate amount of suits filed against various mining companies in the United States district court this morning. The suits are for damages received by miners and are transferred from state courts to the federal court for hearing. The sums demanded vary from $15,000 to $50,000, and in each case criminal negligence on the part of the company is charged as the cause for damage.

The most interesting case is that of James Brace against the Utah Fuel company, whose son William J. Brace, was killed in the Carbon county coal mines, during the strike. The younger Brace was employed as a strike breaker, and while working underground on Nov. 22, 1903, was killed by stones falling from the roof of the mine. The complaint charges that in employing inexperienced, green men to take the place of experienced miners the company was criminally negligent, and therefore liable to damages. The father wants $50,000 for the death of his son.

OTHER CASES.

George Muir, administrator of the estate of John G. Gibson, seeks $20,000 damages from the Union Pacific Coal company, as a result of the death of Gibson, who was killed on March 3, 1904, by the slipping of a 250-pound block of coal in the shaft where he was working.

Victor Nordberg enters suit against the Daily-Judge Mining company and Anchor Mining company, for $20,000 damages, on account of the death of Herman Nordberg, who was killed in August, 1902, in the Anchor mine. The complaint alleges that the shaft was not properly provided with timbers and bulkhead protection.

Joseph A. Brighthouse brings suit against the Utah & Eastern Copper company to recover $15,000 alleged to be due on account of injuries received in the Apex mine on April 22, 1903. Brighthouse was riding on the mine's elevator when it broke and fell 700 feet to the bottom of the shaft, seriously injuring the occupant.

The Consolidated Mercantile Gold Mining company is defendant in a case brought by Thomas M. Blacklock to recover $20,000. Blacklock was thrown out of a tram car on a road work, on Sept. 4, 1903, and landed 30 feet over an embankment to the ground, receiving permanent injuries.

John A. Croft was injured by a cave-in in the Daily-West mine, on Oct. 22, 1903, and seeks to recover $10,000 from the company in payment for his damages.

Peter Bribben appears against the Daily-Judge Mining company in a suit to recover $50,000 damages as the result of injuries received by the explosion of a "missed" hole on April 4, 1904, at the Scott drift in Summit county.

TO SET ASIDE SALE.

Motion Argued in Case of Holman vs. Electric Power Company.

A motion was argued before Judge Hall this morning to set aside the sale of the power plant of defendant in the case of George P. Holman against the Salt Lake City Water and Electric Power company on the ground that the price for which it was sold was not sufficient, and that the sale by the commissioner was irregular. The plant was sold by Commissioner Morris Somers to W. S. McCann for $75,000 and taxes due the county on the property. The motion to set aside the sale and also a motion to fix the compensation of the commissioner was taken under advisement by the court at the conclusion of the arguments.

LETTER DESERTED HER.

Lizzie Stevens filed suit for divorce in the district court today against George Stevens on the grounds of failure to support and desertion. They were married in Beloit, Kansas, on Sept. 23, 1899, and it is alleged that defendant deserted plaintiff on June 6, 1901.

The petition will be heard by Judge Hall on Friday, Sept. 15th, at 10 a. m.

SHOOTING IN PARLEY'S CANYON

Willie Peterson, a Fourteen-Year-Old Boy, Badly Wounded This Morning.

GUN ACCIDENTALLY DISCHARGED

Lad Found Lying Beside the Railroad Track With a Ghastly Wound in His Thigh.

Willie Peterson, a boy 14 years of age who resides with his parents at 449 east Twelfth South street, was accidentally shot through the thigh near the land and water commissioner's station in Parley's canyon this morning. The lad was found lying beside the railroad track by some Rio Grande section hands. He was bleeding badly from his wound, so no time was lost in placing him upon a hand car and bringing him just to the city.

Just how the accident happened is not forthcoming at this time, but it is believed that he secured a large caliber pistol belonging to John F. Howells with whom he was staying up the canyon, and in some manner the gun was discharged as indicated.

Mr. Howells left the station last evening and drove into the city, leaving the boy at the house. The first thing that he knew of the accident was when he received a telephone message shortly before noon. Mr. Howells and Commissioner Lane lost no time in securing a buggy and drove out to meet the hand car with the object in view of taking young Peterson to the Holy Cross hospital.

RESIGNATION DENIED.

Gov. Wells Says He Has No Word of Whitaker's Retirement.

The dispatches were brought to Utah by notice of the resignation, and the governor has no intention of contemplating by Mr. Whitaker. His services at the fair have been satisfactory, and no possible motive for his resignation before the end of the fair is known.

LOSS NOT KNOWN.

So Says Manager Odell Concerning Fire at Idaho Falls.

General Manager George T. Odell returned from Idaho Falls this morning, where he has been since the fire which destroyed their plant there. Sunday night. When seen by a "News" reporter he said that he expected to return in a day or two to meet the insurance adjuster of the Home Fire company, and until then he could not tell definitely how much the loss of the company exceeds the value of the property. He said, a total of $80,000 insurance on the Idaho Falls property, but how it is divided between that which is destroyed and that which is saved is not yet known. The rate charged on Idaho Falls insurance is very high, but the insurance is comparatively small amount carried by more of the firms. Their new buildings, however, which will go up at once on the sites of the old one will be entirely of brick and stone, and comparatively fire proof.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

Bourke Cockran was asked by a St. Louis reporter to give the public some advice on the art of public speaking. "A youth," Mr. Cockran answered, smiling, "once went with your question to an old Englishman who had had much good success as a lecturer. 'Youth,' a successful public speaker, like yourself?"

"The old lecturer laughed. 'What wants to be a public speaker, do that,' he said. 'An' that thinks of water, an' put that up to a wrinkle about it? That's right, lad, Ah am.'

"Now, hark thee. When thou rises to make that speech, hit tangle an' open thy mouth. If it wad come, tak' sup o' water, an' hit tangle again, an' open thy mouth wider than afoor."

"Then, if nowt comes, tak' thyself off, an' leave public speyk to such as me."

MARKET MADE A FAIR SHOWING.

Up-Bidding of Pennsylvania Sent Prices Upwards in All Directions.

CAINS WERE PREDOMINANT.

Profit-Taking in Penn. Caused Stocks To Halt and Fall Back.

New York, Sept. 14.—The tone of the opening dealings in the stock market today was slightly irregular but gains largely predominated. Prices surged rapidly upwards in all directions following the up-bidding of Pennsylvania to 130½. The coal stocks and eastern trunk lines were generally strong, and the western group gave its first demonstration of strength of the week. Southern stocks were sustained by the steady accumulation of Southern railway and the rise of United States Steel preferred contributed to strength in the metal quarters.

The Metropolitan stocks were buoyant. Among the largest gains of the first hour were: American Steel, Metropolitan securities 2½, Metropolitan Street railway and General Electric 2 Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Illinois Central, United States Steel preferred, Colorado Fuel and Iron 1½, and the steel stocks 1½ to 1½.

Pennsylvania touched 131, and its strength in the wool market at further slight advances. The break in the grain markets gave some reassurance against fears of damage from frost. Lumber and steel preferred rose 1½ in all. The activity of the market fell off materially at the later stages of the rise.

Bonds were firm at close. The entire market halted and fell back when the profit taking in Pennsylvania became effective. Pennsylvania ran off ½ and most of the grain carriers about as much. An outburst of strength in Erie and United States Steel stocks forced a general rally late in the day in which some of the granaries and south-westerns touched their highest point. United States Steel preferred touched 67½, a rise of 2½. The common stocks, American and Copper, St. Paul and Northern also figured in the day's rise to the extent of a point or over.
